About AsylumConnect
AsylumConnect is a tech nonprofit providing the first ever digital resource platform for LGBTQ+ asylum. From leaving their dangerous home country to resettlement, it is often a matter of life-or-death for LGBTQ+ asylum seekers to be able to easily identify and connect with legitimate and LGBTQ+ affirming lawyers and other direct service providers. Launched in 2016, the “AsylumConnect Catalog” is the first and only resource website and mobile app designed for LGBTQ+ asylum. LGBTQ+ asylum seekers and other LGBTQ+ people in need (such as undocumented LGBTQ+ immigrants and homeless or isolated LGBTQ+ youth) use the AsylumConnect Catalog as a free digital one-stop-shop referral site to meet their needs in all aspects of their lives, including: housing, legal, food, medical, mental health, community, translation, education and employment services. Lawyers and other direct service providers also use AsylumConnect to gather verified safe referrals for clients.

AsylumConnect’s free resource website and mobile app currently connects users with verified LGBTQ+ affirming and immigrant friendly services in 25 U.S. states, Canada (as of April 2019), and Mexico (in response to the “Remain in Mexico” U.S. asylum policy). Since 2016, AsylumConnect’s free technology has connected over 14,000 unique users to verified LGBTQ+ affirming and immigrant friendly services in the U.S. Globally, the platform has been accessed by over 21,000 unique users. At scale, AsylumConnect will ensure every LGBTQ+ person knows where it is safe to go for help - regardless of their sexual orientation, gender identity, income level and/or immigration status.

Why AsylumConnect Is Needed
There are still 70 countries, mostly in the Middle East, Africa and Asia, where homosexual activity between consenting adults is illegal, according to the International Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans and Intersex Association’s (ILGA) 2019 State-Sponsored Homophobia report. There are also currently six countries in which homosexuality is punishable by death. These include Iran, Sudan, Saudi Arabia and Yemen and parts of Somalia and northern Nigeria. The death penalty is also applied by non-state actors, including the Islamic state, in Syria and Iraq. According to Amnesty International, even in countries where homosexuality has been decriminalized, LGBTQ people can still face violence, arbitrary arrest, imprisonment and torture.
An estimated 400 million LGBTQ+ people continue to face the risk of criminal imprisonment due to their LGBTQ+ identity.

“I know that I either leave this place or die. Any information [on the LGBTQ asylum process] will be very valuable to me as I am all by myself here. I have no friends knowing about me nor any family member. My only source is the internet.”

— Trans asylum seeker from the Middle East to AsylumConnect

“I am planning to move to the U.S. to live like a normal human being without fear of persecution. Show me the way.”

— Gay asylum seeker from the Middle East to AsylumConnect

As a result, every year, tens of thousands are forced to flee their home countries due to persecution based on their sexual orientation and/or gender identity.

- The U.S. is facing an unprecedented backlog of asylum cases. The U.S. immigration court system currently has a backlog of over 900,000 cases. An estimated 5 percent of U.S. asylum claims are based on persecution of sexual orientation or gender identity, which suggests there are over 45,000 currently pending LGBTQ cases in the U.S.
- Additionally, thousands of LGBTQ+ people are seeking asylum in Canada, and the country’s acceptance rate of asylum seekers is the highest in 27 years.

The challenge for many LGBTQ+ asylum seekers is that this discrimination continues even in these “safe” havens. Health care facilities, shelters, legal opportunities, and the wider social services sector can be unsafe and biased. Prejudice from fellow non-LGBTQ+ asylum seekers, immigration judges and translators is rampant. As a result, LGBTQ+ asylum seekers often struggle to access legitimate local services and support, and face increased risk of detention, homelessness, and homophobic or transphobic behavior when accessing social services. Many are forced to give up on their asylum claim and face deportation to their dangerous home country. AsylumConnect’s free resource website and mobile app fills this information gap.

How AsylumConnect Started

AsylumConnect co-founders Sy and Katie Sgarro met as college students at the University of Pennsylvania. As Sy shared his personal experiences seeking LGBTQ+ asylum in the U.S. and explained the persecution that LGBTQ+ people continue to face on a global scale, Katie realized that she had failed to speak out about her own LGBTQ+ identity in a country where she at least had that choice. Finding strength in each other, the two co-founded tech nonprofit AsylumConnect to extend a comprehensive digital lifeline to other LGBTQ+ people in need.

AsylumConnect is founded on the belief that there should never be a time when someone does not know where it is safe to go for help due to their LGBTQ+ identity or immigration status.

Sample User Testimonials:
“Thank you so much. I was trying to gather information such as yours, but this is the most comprehensive I have ever read.” — LGBTQ+ asylum seeker

“It’s wonderful to see AsylumConnect continue to thrive. I will be needing it now more than ever. A huge thanks to [AsylumConnect] for all the work and advocacy you are doing for us; especially a time like this.” — LGBTQ+ asylum seeker

“If AsylumConnect had existed when I was applying for asylum it would have made my life much easier. AsylumConnect’s work truly saves lives. I was homeless for about three years because I could not find services for undocumented lesbians, work, or anyone who could explain to me how the immigration process worked and what my options were.” — LGBTQ+ asylee
“My office is glad to learn that AsylumConnect exists. So many asylum-seekers don’t know where to turn & worry that ‘help’ will discriminate.” — Asylum attorney, LGBT claims

“I'm so excited about AsylumConnect’s work. It's exactly what's needed. We have people getting on trains to reach us when we can't help more people or people who need help in other parts of the country, we can use the AsylumConnect Catalog to tell them where it is safe to go.” — Nonprofit user

“The AsylumConnect Catalog is easy to use, and has a lot of helpful information for asylum seekers in one place.” — Nonprofit user

Spokesperson Bios

Katie Sgarro, AsylumConnect Co-Founder & President
Katie Sgarro is based in New York and is a social entrepreneur and LGBTQ+ advocate. During her senior year in college, she publicly “came out” to co-found AsylumConnect. Her experience denying her own LGBTQ+ identity drives her to ensure that other LGBTQ+ people live freely. Sgarro has led AsylumConnect for 5 years in establishing the first ever digital resource platform for LGBTQ+ asylum.

For her work on AsylumConnect, Katie was selected as the winner of MCC15’s Millennium Peace Prize at the UN (2015), named to the Clinton Foundation’s CGI U Alumni Honor Roll of social innovators (2017), and a Washington Post’s WP BrandStudio Influencer (2018). In 2019, she became a Roddenberry Fellow, joined Urban Justice Center’s Social Justice Accelerator, and was selected as 1 of 24 emerging social purpose leaders for American Express’ Converge Academy in Brooklyn, NY. She is also a member of the Forbes 30 Under 30 Class of 2020 (Law & Policy).

She has been a featured speaker on LGBTQ+ rights and public good technology, and her work has appeared in national outlets including Teen Vogue, NowThis, The HuffPost, The Advocate, and The Hill. Katie is also co-founder and board member of ed-tech nonprofit UPchieve. She received a B.A. cum laude with distinction in Health & Societies from the University of Pennsylvania and a M.S. in Management from Northwestern University’s Kellogg School of Management.

More about Sgarro can be found at her website www.katiesgarro.com and she can be followed on Twitter @katiesgarro.
Hans How, AsylumConnect Vice President
As a current LGBTQ+ asylum seeker, Hans How knows first-hand how difficult it is to find safe help in a new country. He is a frequent speaker on LGBTQ+ rights, and his work with AsylumConnect has been featured in The Daily Beast, The Bay Area Reporter, and others.

How’s previous experience includes raising corporate sponsorships for San Francisco Pride, and contributing to diversity and inclusion initiatives through his involvement with Out Leadership, a global LGBT+ business network, and StartOut, a nonprofit dedicated to fostering LGBTQ+ entrepreneurs.

How graduated from Wesleyan University with full scholarships from the Freeman Foundation, the American Malaysian Chamber of Commerce, and the U.S. Department of State. How is based in San Francisco, California and can be followed on Twitter at @HansHow00.
